KATZ'S BLACK EYE RESEMBLES WIEDIS'S

Both Acquired the Eyes When Mr. Wiedis Tried to Induce Deborah Lankisky to Return to Work While While Mr. Katz Wanted Her to Remain Away.

Late Friday afternoon Nathan Katz of No 71 Hasbrouck avenue swore out a warrant for the arrest of Nathan Wiedis, manager of the Bostonian waist factory on lower Hasbrouck avenue, charging Mr Wiedis with assault in the third degree The hearing was adjourned until this morning in police court.

When court opened Mr. Wiedis was present, accompanied by his attorney, Frank W. Brooks, but Mr. Katz, who is represented by Judge James Jenkins, was not in court. On agreement between counsel the hearing was adjourned to next Saturday morning, and Mr Wiedis released in custody of his attorney.

Mr. Wiedis when arraigned entered a plea of not guilty, and Mr. Brooks informed the court that he was of the opinion from what he had learned since of the case that it was a "frame-up to get Mr. Wiedis in trouble."

Mr Wiedis appeared in court with a white bandage over one eye, which it was rumored, hid a badly discolored optic where it is alleged it came in contact with Mr Katz's fist Mr. Katz also wears a similar decoration on his eye from contact, it is alleged, with the fist of Mr Wiedis.

Harry Lankisky of No. 57 Meadow street was also present in court and informed Judge Schirick that while he was away from home on business Friday that Mr Wiedis called at his house at noon time to try and induce his daughter, Deborah Lankisky, to return to work in the factory. While Mr Wiedis was there Mr Katz appeared on the scene and tried to induce Deborah to remain at home and not return to work.

Mr. Lankisky claimed that the men got in an argument in his house and used their fists freely on each other. The encounter resulted in the Lankisky house looking as though "a cyclone had struck it," said Mr Lankisky. He said that when he arrived home shortly after 3 o'clock that afternoon he found his three children in bed suffering from nervous shock, and that the dinner dishes were scattered all over the floor and broken the window shades were torn down, and other damage committed as a result of the fight.

Just what action Mr. Lankisky intends to take in the matter is not known.

MRS. OSTROM IN CREEK.

Rhinebeck Woman Rescued at Rondout Friday Evening

Shortly after 8 o'clock Friday evening cries of a woman in distress were heard coming from the slip in the Rondout creek near the coal pockets, which were heard by employes on the Island Dock shipyard, who rushed to the scene.

It was found that Mrs. Blanche Ostrom of Rhinebeck had in some manner fallen overboard, and if her cries had not been heard in time she would have drowned, as she was unable to swim. Sergeant Thomas McDowell, of the police force on the Island Dock, Watchman Leslie Smith, and Mike Ertig, an employe of the company, and Captain Alfred Atkins, of the steamer Oswego, assisted in rescuing her.

The police department was notified and Officers Soper, Connelly and Saehloff hastened to the scene. Mrs. Ostrom, after being supplied with some dry clothing by Mrs. Alfred Atkins, was removed to the Kingston City Hospital. Her condition is not serious.

Her daughter, Mrs. Grace Hover, who resides in Rhinebeck, was notified

How she came to fall overboard, or what she was doing along the dock is not known.

Ulster S. P. C. A. Elects Officers.

At the annual meeting of the Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals held in the law offices of Amos Van Etten in the Warren building Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock the following officers and directors were re-elected for the present year of 1919: President Amos Van Etten, vice-president Walter P. Crane, secretary Miss Sarah Johnson, treasurer De Witt Roosa, veterinarian John A. Hubne, directors, Amos Van Etten, George Cornendahl, Mrs. Francis J. Higginson, Mrs. John Hauck, George C. Wolven, John A. Hubne, William C. Shafer, De Witt Roosa, Walter P. Crane, William R. Harrison, David Burnevin and Mrs. John W. Rode of Ellenville. Routine business was discussed and other matters taken up by the society.

Highway Bond Interest Paid.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., March 1.—Holders of State Highway, Palisades Park, Forest Preserve and Saratoga Reservation bonds issued during the last few years, now aggregating $8,234,000, will receive $1,809,000 today. Comptroller Travis has announced This sum represents the state's interest obligation for the last six months accruing upon $50,000,000 of Highway, $5,000,000 Palisades $2,500,000 Forest Preserve, and $734,000 Saratoga Springs bonds still outstanding. In addition, a payment of $95,000 will be made toward reducing the principal of the Saratoga Springs investment.

SAWDUST DOESN'T COVER ALL BEAUTY

Even With Everything Cluttered Up, the New Wall Street Theater is a Gem of Beauty.

The sawdust still lies thick on the marble flooring of the lobby in the new Keeney Theater, and its all cluttered up with beams and boards, and workmen and wires. But when you push open the swinging doors which lead into the auditorium itself, the beauty and finish of the interior fairly makes you gasp.

The walls are a delightful warm shade which one woman described as a "pinky fawn color," and another one assured me was "beige." Take your choice. Its lovely anyway, and at the far end where the screen is, six stunning white Corinthian columns form a deep recess.

The chairs are of leather, roomy and wide, the light comes from some mysterious source; the heating and ventilating is automatic, and the whole interior of the new theater gives a sense of comfort and luxury impossible to describe.

The first to see it and enjoy it will be those who go next Friday night to the opening for the benefit of the Red Cross.

HOUGHTALING CASE IN SUPREME COURT

Judge Nichols For Judge Hasbrouck At Regular Special Term—Trumpbour Named Guardian.

Justice Nichols of Schoharie held a regular special term of the supreme court in the court room of the court house this morning, in place of Justice Hasbrouck, who is at Miami, Fla

In Steven Arlesworth Co., Inc., against C Hiltebrant Dry Dock Company, a motion was made for a further bill of particulars. The court took the papers Judge Clearwater appeared as counsel for plaintiff; Amos Van Etten for defendants.

On motion of Benjamin C. Rowe an order was granted appointing Grant Trumpbour general guardian for an infant defendant in the case of Christina M. Post against Mary Massino and others, a partition action.

Special term then recessed and Justice Nichols took up the adjourned case from the December term calendar of Alexander Houghtaling against the New York Central Railroad. This is an action in negligence. Plaintiff was injured while alighting from a West Shore train at Rutherford Park, N J. and was awarded compensation by the state compensation board. This was set aside by a United Courts decision and the case has to be tried over again under the federal liability act Mr. Houghtaling's examination, which was partly taken a few weeks ago, was resumed. N. Frank O'Reilly for plaintiff; Amos Van Etten for defendant company.

SOCIETY NOTES.

A surprise party was given Miss Irma Capach Friday evening at her home, 137 Clinton avenue, in honor of her birthday. A very delightful time was enjoyed by her many friends. Dancing and games were enjoyed during the evening after which delicious refreshments were served.

Master Glen Weeks Young celebrated his fourth birthday Friday afternoon by entertaining about fourteen of his young friends. A most enjoyable time was had by all present. Dainty refreshments were served during the afternoon and various games were enjoyed by those present.

The home of Mrs. Ellen Ryan, No. 58 Summer street, was the scene on Thursday evening, February 27th, of an enjoyable time, when about thirty of her friends gathered to make merry, the occasion being Mrs. Ryan's birthday. During the evening many good-natured jokes were "sprung," vocal selections rendered and a jolly good time had. Mrs. Ryan, who is known for her hospitality, served as usual, appetizing refreshments and after having enjoyed an evening of pleasure as can only be enjoyed at the Ryan homestead, the guests departed, wishing for Mrs. Ryan many more happy and prosperous birthdays.

Her 75th Birthday.

Mrs. Margaret Walter celebrated her 75th birthday at her home, No. 62 German street, Friday. She was tendered a shower of post cards and received a number of letters of congratulations from her host of friends. Mrs. Walter has been a resident of German street for the past fifty-two years, and is well and favorably known by a large circle of friends. She has six children, all residents of Kingston. They are Fred J. and Elmer C. Walter and the Misses Blandina, Julia, Mazzie and Libbie Walter.

Invited To Hear President.

James Murphy of Brewster street has received an invitation from the Citizens's Committee to attend the reception at the Metropolitan Opera House, Tuesday evening, to be given to President Wilson.

TESTIMONIAL DANCE PLANS COMPLETED

15-Piece Orchestra Secured and Floor Committee Named—Fund Now $5,288 and Ticket Sales to be Known Monday.

Final arrangements for the testimonial dance in the armory on Monday night have been brought to completion and from the enthusiasm shown in promoting the affair, to success with subscriptions and patrons, there is no doubt of the crowd that will attend.

Never before has a benefit fund of any kind been so heartily supported as has the testimonial openly expressing the appreciation of the citizens of the city for two men who while in the public service gave their lives in the performance of their duties Policeman James Lawrence and Fireman Louis Kolts gave their lives like true heroes for the protection of the city and now with heartfelt appreciation of their deeds the city has responded most freely for the benefit of their widows.

The ticket sale will be made public Monday and an astonishing amount is expected to be added to the long list of patrons and subscribers that have been daily increased by Executive Manager Fowler, assisted by the police and fire departments.

Emanuel Metzger, chairman of the music committee has arranged with Professor Mullet for a 15-piece orchestra and every one's mind should be at ease by this announcement. They will furnish both dance and concert music and promise some of the latest hits in the line of dance music.

PEACE CONFERENCE

To Settle Italian-Jugoslav Dispute On Wilson's Return.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, March 1.—Immediately upon the return of President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George to Paris strong action will be taken by the peace conference in the Italian-Jugoslav dispute. A provisional boundary will be drawn and both parties sternly warned to keep on their own side of the line.

There have been attempts by parties on both sides of the quarrel to enlist the sympathy of the powers at the peace session, but the delegates decline to be influenced by special pleading.

Community Meeting at Asbury.

A farm bureau community meeting is to be held at the Grange Hall, Asbury, Monday evening, March 3, at 7:30 o'clock. Prof. C. A. Rouzella, a successful dairyman of Otsego county and a member of the extension staff of the State College of Agriculture, will be present to speak on the "Selection of Dairy Foods." Problems pertaining to profitability will also be taken up at this meeting.

IN THE SERVICE OF OUR COUNTRY

HENRY W. BARTSCH

Volunteered for Uncle Sam in the Naval Reserve Force June, 1918, as a radio operator After a short time in the Radio School at Pelham Bay he was transferred to the Western Union telegraph office there, and was one of the unfortunate ones not to see overseas duty. Bartsch has received his release from active service and will resume his work as operator on the West Shore Railroad

Quartermaster Richard Murphy has returned to his home in Ridgefield Park, after having spent a short time with Mrs. Robert Murphy on East Chester street

Word has been received of the safe arrival from overseas of Private John C Sparling He is now at Embarkation Hospital No. 5, Grand Central Palace, New York.

Assistant Chief Engineer John E. Osterhoudt of the U. S S Transport, Cape Henry, is spending a week's furlough at his home, No. 36 Lindsley avenue He has been over on the other side, making the trip in thirteen days, and taking twenty-two days to return. He expects to sail in two weeks. His ship brought over 5,500 troops landing them at Newport News

Private Matthew Madden, of the 77th Division, visited his sister, Mrs Joseph Scherer, of Connelly, Thursday. He was honorably discharged last Saturday from Camp Dix, visited relatives and friends in New York and Jersey. He told many interesting tales about what he saw and went through. He was in some big battles and was wounded in the chest and he counts himself mighty lucky to see the old U. S. A. as soon as he did Many of Mrs. Scherer's young friends gathered at her home that evening and enjoyed listening to the war stories also. Matthew says he never felt better in his life and he never looked better. His many friends are glad to see him back in Kingston again He and his brother, Patrick, spent the night with Mrs Scherer and returned to their home on Union street Friday.

ONE BUCK PRIVATE HITS PROHIBITION

"Drys" Took Advantage of Absence of the Fighting Men to Put Something Over on Them.

The following letter from a member of the A. E. F. in active service in France has been received by The Freeman:

On Active Service With the American Expeditionary Force
France, Feb. 3, 1919.

To the Editor of The Kingston Daily Freeman:

I wish to take this opportunity of expressing what I believe to be the opinion of the majority of the A. E. F. Having discussed the subject of prohibition on numerous occasions with several hundred of the boys of Uncle Sam, I find they are very much displeased with the "Bone Dry Amendment."

The opinion prevails that while they have been in France fighting to make the world "Safe for Democracy" the "drys" have taken advantage of their absence and "stabbed them in the back" as it were.

Who represented America on the battlefields? — The Prohibitionists who devoted his time to the "dry" cause or the boys who went "over the top?" If the boys could have done as some of the dry advocates did—stayed at home—perhaps there would have been a different view taken of the situation by the legislatures of the different states. We think the Prohibitionists have taken advantage of our absence and we wonder if they do not feel somewhat ashamed over the way they won their "wonderful" victory.

Don't get sore.
My home is in the 6th ward too.
I am,
ONLY A BUCK PVT.

P. S.—Let Buster Moultrie and the gang know I am feeling well and about as happy as ever.

Wrenn's Eye Injured.

Andrew Wrenn, Jr., had one of his eyes badly injured while at work on the Island Dock shipyard Friday afternoon. He was removed to his home at Kingston Point.

EDUCATION BOARD DECLINES REQUESTS

To Use High School Auditorium Where Admission Is Charged—Bills Audited And Other Business.

Features of the regular monthly meeting of the board of education, held Friday evening at the high school, were the report of Superintendent Michael, the auditing of a bill of L. F. Bannon Company of $434.74 less $15 deducted, a bill of Horace Clearwater for cordwood after $2 a cord was deducted, and the referring back to the superintendent and president an application from the Kingston Symphony Society for use of the auditorium of the high school for an afternoon and evening concert. The request made on behalf of the high school alumni to place a bronze tablet on the wall in the corridor as memorial to the five members of the high school alumni, who lost their lives during the war, was granted.

Vice-President Kearney, in the absence of President Flemming, presided at the meeting; others attending being Trustees Crane, Gill, Hale, Schaeffel and Van Wagonen. After the reading and approving of the minutes of previous meetings, Secretary Michael read a communication signed by Palmer Canfield, Jr., stating that the Independent Order of Odd Fellows would celebrate their centenary in April, and asked permission to use the auditorium of the high school for exercises to be held at 3 p m, Sunday, April 13. Trustee Gill said that whereas the matter of granting use of the auditorium had been placed in the hands of the president and superintendent, the application should be referred to them. It was so referred.

A communication from the Kingston Symphony Society, signed by Davis Hawk was read requesting the use of the auditorium of the high school on March 24th, a concert to be given in the afternoon for children at which a small admission was to be charged, and a concert to be given in the evening. Trustee Gill made a motion that the application be referred to the president and superintendent, but it was not seconded Trustee Van Wagonen said it seemed to him for some time the members of the board did not have much jurisdiction. He did not believe in shifting the responsibility from the president and superintendent.

Thomas J. Comerford was granted the privilege of the floor and was heard in behalf of the petition of the Symphony society. The objects of the society were not commercial but educational the aim being to interest and encourage young people to be instrumentalists and to organize a large orchestra that would be credit to the city. It would be necessary to charge admission in order to obtain funds to pay soloists to come here. Not a member of the society would make a cent out of it.

Trustee Gill objected to the giving the use of the auditorium which was owned by the public, and if the public is to be charged, he moved and it was carried that the application be referred back to the president and superintendent with power to grant it if there would be no charge to the public.

The request of the high school alumni to erect a bronze tablet in the high school corridor, was granted after Alfred Schmid of the Alumni had been heard and exhibited a drawing of the proposed tablet.

Harry Clearwater was heard on behalf of Horace Clearwater whose bill for five cords of wood at $10 a cord had been held up by the finance committee. He stated that the wood had cost $6 a cord and had to be hauled and some of it sawed in two. Trustee Van Wagonen said that the board of education had been paying only $6 a cord and that the Clearwater wood "had been slipped over on us." After some talk on motion of Trustee Van Wagonen the bill was audited at $8 a cord.

The matter of auditing a bill of the L. F. Bannon Company, then was brought up and Trustee Van Wagonen reported that the committee had agreed to report the bill of $434.74 for audit, at that amount less $24.91 deducted for use of gas. Mr. Bannon was heard and said that carpenters and masons had used the gas during the No. 5 school work and the janitor had left the gas jets burning. It was finally voted to audit the bill less $15, on motion of Trustee Van Wagonen who withdrew his first motion.

The finance committee reported as to vouchers; that payroll for February of $11,648 50 had been approved, and bills amounting to $3,243.67, less deduction from Clearwater and Bannon bills audited.

The usual resolution to deduct 3 per cent from teachers' salaries for pension fund was adopted.

The finance committee was empowered to pay freight on a carload of semi-bituminous coal purchased at the mines in Pennsylvania, for trial at the high school. It being claimed there will be a big saving by its use.

Trustee Gill stated that hereafter pay rolls must be approved by the city civil service board, and that office assistants, truant officers and janitors must be from the civil service, the present ones not being affected.

The same visiting committee was reappointed.

Superintendent Michael then read his report, which appears in another column.

WESTERN BLIZZARD REACHES ILLINOIS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, March 1.—The blizzard, which for the past four days has been raging in the Rocky Mountain states, struck Illinois last night and today the middle west is shivering from the stinging north wind which at times during the night shipped along at 45 miles an hour.

The mercury in Chicago dropped twenty-one degrees in two hours last night.

Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, and South Dakota report blizzards today varying ferocity. Trains are reported stalled in heavy snowstorms in western Nebraska and Minnesota. Two men are reported killed in a wreck near Norwood, Minn., as a result of the blizzard.

A. A. A. PRAISES FEDERAL ROAD ACT

National Auto Body Has New Expert To Help Solve Problems For Good Roads Board.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, March 1.—National, state and county highway development along sound economic lines will be emphasized in a greater degree than ever before by the American Automobile Association, announces Chairman George C. Diehl of its good roads board. J. E. Pennybacker, chief of management of the federal bureau of public roads, and generally recognized as the foremost authority on road management, has resigned his federal post to become director of roads for the association. Mr Pennybacker originated and edited the Good Roads Year Book, and was advisor to the joint committee on Federal Aid to Post Roads of the U. S senate and house of representatives before taking charge of the management branch of the Federal Road Bureau.

"The Federal Aid Road Act is a milestone on the way, but only a milestone," declares Mr. Diehl. "Ultimately there will come a national system of highways correlated with state systems and these in turn with county systems. There will be difficult problems of finance, of administration, and of traffic regulation to be solved. In these questions the six million motor vehicle owners should take an active part, for these are questions that must be settled right and in accordance with intelligent public opinion. The A. A. A Good Roads Board will actively seek to sound the best sentiment on these subjects and to bring to light the best thought in their working out."

DEPRESSED B'WAY PLAN FINDS FAVOR

Among Those Considering West Shore Crossing Problem—Joseph Herbert and Mayor Give It Much Attention—What It Includes and Relation to Proposed New Station.

Although the Chamber of Commerce has not yet made a definite recommendation in support of any particular plan for the elimination of the Broadway grade crossing, inasmuch as the plans for the swinging of Broadway around to the north, which has a number of advantages, have not yet been completed; it is giving a great deal of attention to the plan of depressing and widening Broadway.

President Joseph M. Herbert of the Chamber of Commerce has given a great deal of time to the development of this plan, and has made four special trips to New York within the last month in connection with the drafting of it.

He has also had conferences with many persons in regard to the plan. Substantial improvements have been developed in these conferences and incorporated in the plan.

Mayor Canfield, although he does not endorse any particular plan at this time, has made suggestions of such importance in the working out of this plan, that a large part of the credit for its present form is due to him.

The plan provides for a subway from about Cedar street on the west to about Dederick street on the east. This subway would be open except where it passes under the West Shore tracks, and would have a width between retaining walls of 40 feet.

It would provide for two trolley tracks within the subway so that cars on the Colonial line could be operated on Broadway without involving the Kingston city line in delays in the operation of the Colonial line occasioned at grade crossings on the U. & D. tracks.

This plan of trolley car operation would give a service on the Kingston City line entirely free from grade crossing delays and also a convenient service on the Colonial line through central Broadway, which would greatly increase traffic on the Colonial line, and correspondingly relieve congestion on the Kingston City line.

This plan would also provide an important convenience for the trolley car passengers by means of a platform in the subway under the West Shore tracks, from which trolley passengers would pass to the depressed sidewalk, thence to Railroad avenue and directly to the West Shore station.

This plan is feasible from an engineering standpoint and does not require a prohibitive cost or any interference with the present tracks of the West Shore railroad.

It continues Broadway in a straight line without any inconvenient detours and with a grade of about 6 per cent.

In order to obtain adequate room for a 40 ft. subway, for two 20 ft. upper level road ways and two 10 ft. sidewalks, about 17 ft. would be acquired on the south side of Broadway, giving Broadway a total width of 100 ft. This property would be taken on the south side of Broadway rather than the north side because property values are less on the south side of the street, and business development is greater on the north side, and the properties on the south side have additional depth unused.

There would be separate subways for foot passengers, which would not be as deep as the vehicular tunnel. The south side subway would be reached by means of steps, but in order to provide for the convenience of pedestrians having baby carriages, and other side walk vehicles and of the crippled and infirm, the north side subway would be approached by ramps. The ramp on the westward side would be so designed with respect to the platform for trolley passengers and the West Shore station, that trolley passengers could approach the West Shore station in a straight line.

President J. M. Herbert, C. P. O'Connor, Lawrence Bannon and Secretary Hudson represented the Chamber of Commerce at an informal conference with Commissioner Thomas J. Fennell at Albany on Thursday.

Mayor Canfield, City Engineer Codwise and Chief Draughtsman Lorraine Wood represented the city, and Amos Van Etten and R. S. Voorhees represented the New York Central Railroad. Various plans were considered at this conference.

Mayor Canfield and President Herbert of the Chamber of Commerce urged the advisability of considering plans for the new West Shore station in connection with plans for the crossing elimination, even though the construction of a new station would be deferred. It is obvious that these two matters are so closely related that they should be taken as a unit.

The city will prepare plans for a new station and present them before the Public Service Commission.

Big Minstrel Monday.

A most elaborate St Colman's minstrel will be given Monday evening, March 3, at the Immaculate Conception school hall, Delaware avenue. This minstrel is equal to big Broadway hits It is full of true patriotism, big laughter, clean jokes and amusing stories. Good music will be furnished for dancing after the show is over. Those who will be present will enjoy the biggest fun bit in town of the evening.

A LOOK-IN AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Shows It To Be Center of City's Physical Training Activities—And the Women Form the Largest Class.

Today it is a recognized fact that a sound mind in a sound body is worth at least one hundred per cent more than where the sound body is lacking. The actual need of wholesome physical development is another of the war lessons that we have learned, and in the learning are wanting others to learn. There has always been a vague sort of notion prevalent in the city, that there was some sort of physical work done at our Y. M. C. A., but just what it consisted of, or who derived benefit therefrom has been little noted by the community at large.

Even the physical training equipment would surprise many people if they know that the gymnasium itself was forty by seventy feet with a thirty foot ceiling, and a padded running track in the gallery. On the floor of the gym there is special provision for a hand ball court; a volley ball court; an indoor baseball diamond, and basketball cages. Then there are also chest weights, punching bags, a "horse," a "buck," parallel bars, horizontal bar, high parallel bars; thirty-foot pole for climbing and traveling rings. So much for the gym equipment.

The swimming pool, all of white tile, is twenty feet by forty feet, with a graded depth of from three to ten feet. There is also a spring board.

Three shower bath rooms will accommodate from 25 to 30 bathers at a time, thus relieving any congestion at the close of swimming classes.

Unquestionably the four bowling alleys are the best in the city. Then there are fine locker rooms always in charge of a reliable attendant. The following story, as told by Norman A. Dillinger, the physical director at the "Y," shows to what good and continual use all this equipment is put.

Saturday morning, when there is no school, is the time when the younger lads, boys from 9 to 11 years old, known as the "Cadets," have their good time at the gym. Their exercise is mostly in the nature of games, and the class numbers about a dozen boys. Next there is a class of some twenty-five to thirty boys from 11 to 14 years of age, known as the Student C group, which occupies the gym on Saturday mornings after the Cadets have left, and on Wednesday afternoons. These boys have regular class work; calisthenic exercises; exercises with some of the apparatus; followed by games. While the exercises are excellent for the boys, the games are just as valuable as they make for mental alertness and a fine spirit of give and take, and offer the first stages of athletics.

Student B group is made up of fellows from 14 to 16 years of age, some twenty of whom meet on Tuesday and Friday afternoons, and who are given some heavier work than the younger boys.

An entirely different sort of instruction is given to the High School Student A fellows, in order that their gym work at the "Y" may supplement and broaden the drill work which they have to have at the high school. They are given, for the most part, recreative games, such as tag-games, circle-games, etc., wherein they gain agility, alertness and withal some fun.

A group of boys, who seem especially to enjoy and appreciate the physical instruction at the Y. M. C. A. is that made up of employed boys, whose class, with an average attendance of twelve youths, meets Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings at 7 o'clock. They are given calisthenics and games.

Considerably more strenuous sort of work, which can scarcely be called "play" exercise, is given to the young men eighteen years old and older, who meet for physical instruction on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 8 to 9:30 p. m. Because less well-known, Director Dillinger says it has been harder to interest these men in the work with apparatus; horse, buck, parallel and horizontal bars, mats, etc., but this class is now really becoming quite alive to the value of these forms of exercises. They also have basket and volley ball games and indoor baseball.

Phsical work for business men is almost daily becoming more and more popular, for one man realizing how much good it is doing him, passes the good word on to another. These are four classes for business men, one each at noon on Monday and Friday of each week, one on Tuesday from 5 to 6 and one on Thursday evening which has just been formed. The attendance at these classes numbers from twelve to eighteen or twenty men, and there are enrolled lawers, clergymen, school men, merchants, etc., all of whom appreciate being young again. The exercise which these men are given are more vigorous than strenuous, and are chosen by the director to develop those muscles little used by the average professional or business man. They have calisthenics, including open-hand exercises, dumb bell and bar exercises; stretching and bending exercises.

The game most played by these men is volley ball, which is played over a tennis net stretched to a height of eight feet. An inflated ball somewhat smaller than a basketball must be kept in motion back and forth over the net without touching the floor. This calls for a stretching of muscles, especially of the uper part of the body, thus opening the lungs; foot exercise; a clear eye, alertness and agility.

Another new venture is that of the physical classes for the non-member or street boys, in whom the Rotary Club are taking an interest and being responsible for. These boys certainly are becoming greatly interested in the "Y," their class in physical training which comes on Thursday evenings usually having an attendance of some forty-five boys. First they go to the gym, where they are given—at present—elementary calisthenic exercises and games, and where under the sugar coating of those same games, they are learning the greatly needed lesson for all American youths, as shown in the recent war, that of discipline. For forty-five boys to learn to play a quare game, and to stop, no matter what the advantage, the instant that the whistle blows is in and of itself well worth while.

Then the lads are inspected by certain members of the Rotary Club as to their cleanliness, each boy being provided with soap, hand brush and towel. A proper degree of cleanliness entitles the boys to a half hour in the swimming poool, after which they go upstairs for a "sing," under leadership, perhaps a short talk, and simple "eats."

Another important and highly appreciated class is that for our city policemen, who meet at the "Y" on Tuesday afternoons anywhere from ten to twenty strong, as their work permits. Their occupation is life is carefully considered by the director, who gives these men, first of all, "warming-up" exercise, then instruction in such exercises as make for good jumping, hurdling, running and vaulting, all of which count in making these men more efficient policemen. The exercises are followed by games, especially that of indoor baseball.

Still another feature of the physical training work is what has become known as the "Popular Saturday Nights," when after the regular classes for the evening usually some twenty or thirty older boys and young men enjoy a social hour and some light refreshments.

So much for the boys' and men's end of the physical training at our Y. M. C. A.

It may surprise many people, as it did The Freeman reporter, to know that probably the largest class of all is the women's class, which includes some seventy women, often being taught in groups of forty-five women. On Tuesday evenings they have the entire physical training department to themselves from 7 to 10 o'clock. There is also a class for women on Friday morning from 9 to 11:30. Grace, poise, balance of weight, youthful carriage and general good health are some of the things gained by the women in these classes. They are given calisthenic exercises for about thirty minutes. Then there are tag and circle games, relay races and volley and basket ball, as the members choose. After these exercises an adjournment is taken to the swimming pool, where a specially trained instructor, Mrs. Sulitzer, is in charge. Both the Tuesday and Friday classes have the privilege of using the bowling alleys with the men on Tuesday and Friday evenings, and it is not unusual for as many as twenty women to enjoy this sport. Some of the women have made some high scores, one woman's being 123 in duck pins, a fine score for man or woman. One woman summed up the good she derived from participating in the physical training—and she was not a very young woman—when she said that she felt ten years younger to know that she could laugh and play again.

In adition to the various classes already mentioned, there are several "organizations." Some eighty boys have been formed into leagues and teams for competitive games of one sort or other. There is a volley ball league of five teams that meets every Saturday from 4 to 5 o'clock, composed of from twenty-four to thirty business men. The city basketball league includes five teams. Then there is the high school boys' basketball league and the junior basketball league, composed of grammar school lads.

For the first time on New Year's Day this year there was a public school indooor athletic meet in which one hundred and twenty contestants from the eight public schoools participated, and which was witnessed by some four hundred spectators, friends of the participants. Hereafter this will be an annual affair.

This sums up Mr. Dillinger's past and present story, and proves him to be a decidedly busy young man, with twenty-four physical training classes a week; a Bible class for high school boys, who are studying the "Athletes of the Bible," and the various leagues to look after.

Future plans which Mr. Dillinger is working on, include a grammar school baseball league, which will probably begin its activities in May, and the annual camp. This will doubtless be held in the Highlands in the summer, and will include interesting and enjoyable hikes into the country surrounding the camp.

It must begin to look to all of us that our Y. M. C. A. means to keep in the advance guard from now on, broadening its possibilities for genuine helpfulness in the community as it never did "before the war." Furthermore we Kingstonians will have to admit that we have a live and coming institution or the making of men in our midst, such as we have little appreciated, because we have not known as much about what it is and has been doing, as we should.

The Preferred Sort.

"What do you think of the circular letter sent out to its patrons by the accused corporation?"

"I think the public would prefer a square deal."

SAVE MONEY! SAVE SHOES!

In a long chase for a criminal, J. E. Jones, a secret service man of Chicago, wore one pair of shoes with Neolin Soles for nineteen months. This chase covering both American continents and Australia, ended in April, 1917. The shoes were then given a mechanic at Clearing, Ill., and were worn by him another seven months.

"Until I discovered shoes with Neolin Soles, I bought new shoes about every two months," said Mr. Jones.

Twenty-six months of wear under conditions such as these is indeed extraordinary even for Neolin Soles. But Neolin Soles are made by Science to be especially durable. They are comfortable and waterproof, too. You can get them on new shoes for men, women and children, or for re-soling. Manufactured by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels, guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

HUGE SUPPLIES FOR A. E. F. CAMP

Millions of Pounds Used Each Month —Why the Men Cannot All Come Home in a Month—The Hero Tales of Joseph and His Kind.

Camp de Souge, Feb. 2.—There is plenty of work yet for us in camp and few persons at home have any idea of the size of the camps over here. I make out requisitions for some of the supplies at Camp de Souge, and the amount of material we use will surprise the folks at home who do not realize what a big thing the A. E. F. is. Just for this camp, for the month of January, I made out orders for over 3,000,000 pounds of oats, 2,500,000 pounds of bran, nearly 3,000,000 pounds of hay. Coal and wood we order by the million pounds, it requiring over 5,000,000 pounds each month The food supply I have nothing to do with, but it is enormous. We have a potato bin with several million pounds of spuds in it and beans and bacon come in several carloads at a time. Flour we get in 10 and 15 carload lots and our camp baker keeps about 150 men busy, working 24 hours a day in three shifts. Most of the bread is used here, only about a carload a day being sent to one of the smaller camps nearby.

Until you see the amount of supplies used you have no idea of what it takes to supply an army. In our warehouses we have everything from a pick to a drum All these supplies have to be received and dealt out. And this will continue as long as there are men in the A. E. F. So you see some of us 'housekeepers" will be here until the very last, feeding and clothing the army and then "breaking up housekeeping" after they are gone. And 2,000,000 men cannot be sent home in a day Over 100,000 will be sent home in the first three months, and that is a lot quicker than the first 100,000 came over here, but they are speeding up now on the return, just as they speeded up in sending us over here. The fastest they sent us over was 300,000 a month. So figure it out for yourself and see how much sense there is in the cry "Send the boys home right away." Isn't it being done as fast as possible? Somebody has to be the last to return, just as some were the last to come I want to get back home and on my old job as badly as anyone does. Fifteen months of work at $1.10 a day without a compensating chance for any of the glory is not so very satisfying that one wants to prolong it, but somebody has to do the work and I am no better than anyone else to do it. So why not shut up and be satisfied?

I am sending a copy of the Stars and Stripes with an editorial headed "Why, Joseph!" marked. Joseph must be a dandy, but there will be a lot of Josephs. And they are the fellows—this small noisy minority—that will bring the whole army into disgrace, for they will always be blowing about themselves and how they saved the country and expecting to live without work on their record as "heroes" The S. O. S. isn't the only place you'll find them. Before we were allowed to say where we were I wrote that I was hundreds of miles from the front and where even airplane raiders couldn't come, and I am here yet, in the same place. I have heard guns and exploding shells, just like Joseph did, but I told you at the time it was our own men at target practice. What's the use of being a bragging liar, anyway? My only knowledge of the front is what I get from the men who have been there, and I have seen and talked with many of them, Americans, British and French. And I do not believe you are going to hear as many hero stories or as many complaints from them as from those who never saw action. Of course, a few of them will exercise their imagination and "grouse," as the Tommies say, but most of them seem to think that war is not a game of croquet and should not be judged by croquet rules. They had a hard time, but a hard time was in the game they played and was to be expected So they don't blame anybody for it, except the Germans It was their business to thrash the Germans and they did it and hardship was just in the day's work. That is the way they talk, those who saw the really hard service. They don't knock anybody or brag about themselves Of course, there are exceptions There were a few Josephs at the front as well as in the rear. None of us have had all the comforts of home and none of us had the right to expect them.

FRED

The marked paragraph referred to is a letter from a Californian, printed in a California newspaper, describing the horrors and dangers of the camps near Bordeaux The Californian, whose name is Joseph, writes that all will be calm when suddenly there will come a flash and roar and a big shell will strike the earth, tearing a hole big enough to bury a village in "All we can do is to lay flat and pray God to protect us and we surely do need protection here," writes Joseph from a camp 300 miles from the front. The Stars and Stripes reprints the letter, its only comment being the headline, "Why, Joseph!"

COOTIE XMAS PRESENTS

That's What Altamari Found in His Stocking.

Little Miss Frances Altamari of 15 Gill street has received the following cheerful letter from her brother, Mike, with the A. E. F., and at that time stationed at Coupray, France:

Coupray, France,
Jan. 24, 1918.

Dear Little Sister Frances:

Received your two letters of January 2nd and 3rd, and certainly was glad to hear from you and that you are well, which I am at the present.

Glad to hear that you had a good time on Christmas and that Santa Claus was good to you and brought you lots of presents.

He was also good to me. I hung up my sock Christmas Eve and when I woke up in the morning it was filled (yes) with (cooties). I suppose you know what they are Some of them walk up and down our backs with canes in their hands and three service stripes So by the looks of things they are pretty well trained

Gee, you must be a regular piano player now that you are taking lessons I bet by the time I get back you will be an expert I hope so, so we can have a fine party, and you will be the piano player

How is Assenda getting along. I suppose she is the same old way (lazy) and getting fat all the time But tell her that's alright for she is a good girl anyway, for she does lots of work around the house and store.

Well, Frances, I will close for this time with love to you and Assenda and hope to see you soon. I am

Your loving brother,
MIKE.

Veteran Cigar Salesman Resigns.

Andrew M. Taylor of Port Ewen, who for the past thirty years has been traveling representative for the firm of G. W Van Slyke & Hoiton, cigar manufacturers, of this city, has tendered his resignation to the firm to take effect in April Mr. Taylor is a most efficient salesman, has a genial disposition and is liked by all who know him. Mr. Taylor covered a large territory and undoubtedly will be missed by his many customers. Nothing definite has been decided upon by Mr. Taylor for the future.

ELIMINATE POOL LOSERS TONIGHT

The first sets of the K. of C. pool tournament come to a close tonight, and all of the losers will be eliminated. The first game between Carro and Erena was won by Carro. The second game was won by Murphy, who played a very steady game and made some fine shots. Mayone defeated Flanagan in the third game and Higley outplayed the Rev. De Crome, who played a good game. "Cap" Ketteler's clam chowder made a hit with the spectators, especially George Rafferty. Next week the winners will be matched and the games between these men are expected to be interesting and exciting. The scores:

WAR WAS NO JOKE SAYS SULLIVAN

But if He Could Get a Few Freemans He Would Manage to Get Along For a While.

Mrs. J. J. Sullivan of Rogers street has received the following leeter from her son, Henry:

Feb. 2, 1919.
France.

Dear Mother and all:—I received with much joy your letters dated Dec. 29, and Jan. 4. It was sure a relief to hear from you and find you were all well and feeling so fine. It was just three months since I received a letter of any kind and they sure were encouraging. Well I'm sure glad to hear that Joe is home at last. I bet he feels like a four year old colt. Tell him he need not feel sore because he did not come over. He was a good deal better off. War in France is no joke take it from me. I am sure glad he is home. Well things are beginning to look good again. We are about wound up in our work in this place. We are finished moving troops and are now doing local work, such as handling supplies and so forth and not much of that. The boys are all optimistic and hold great hopes of going home very soon, but the exact date is still dark, so I could not give you any good hope on it but it won't be long That much I can tell you and don't worry, you'll know when I get back. alright. Now about coming home with the 469th that is something I cannot say a word about, personally I don't think I'll be back with the 469th I haven't any real reason for saying so but I doubt it I have not heard anything about it so I hold no hopes, but if all comes true why I'll run a chance of beating them at that so just be at ease and wait. Now I'm sure a puffed up buck to find that my letters have created such a bunch of noise back there, in fact I can't quite understand it My letters in the first place they seem to me like they were very dry and poorly versed but I'm sure glad they were enjoyed and that they cheered so many Ulster hearts through our good old Freeman's columns I sure would give a good deal to have a few Freemans in my possession right now We don't get any kind of news from United States up in this country and they would sure be welcome.

Well I sure hope all are well home, it's one of the real joys of life over here to know that. Tell Anna and Art I send my best to them both and tell Father Hickey I am sure ashamed of myself for not dropping him a line—but give him my most sincere good wishes and hope him bon soute (good health) for me Well I'l have to call it enough for today, the place we are in is quiet and not much going on, it's not very cold though; we have several inches of snow, the air is very light as we are situated up on a mountain, in fact one of the highest spots in France. We see some very pretty scenery; on the road out of here the towns we pass through have all been shot up either by shell fire or by air bombs. Well mother, I'll let you know all that is going on and give my love to all. Tell Uncle J. I sure will eat my share of that ham, oh boy, my mouth is watering now. Well good luck and best wishes to all my good friends and with much love to you and all. I remain your loving son,

HENRY J SULLIVAN.

BUILDING INCREASED

In Most Cities Throughout State During Past Year.

Building activity in New York state took a decided upward bound from December, 1918, to January, 1919. The increased expenditures for this period, as reported by the building departments of the first and second-class cities to the Bureau of Statistics of the New York State Industrial Commission, amounted to 123 per cent. The only cities who failed to share in this rise were Albany, Troy and Utica, where the amounts expended for building declined 20, 1 and 50 per cent, respectively. This is the first time there has been a decided indication of revival in building activities so early in the season, as this tendency is usually not manifest until March. The total amount reported for January was $5,645,329 which is 9 per cent less than a similar sum reported in January, 1918. Building costs reported in January, 1918, 1917 and 1916 were, respectively, 6, 12 and 15 millions of dollars. The Boroughs of Brooklyn and Queens, and the cities of Binghamton, Schenectady and Syracuse made larger expenditures for building in January, 1919, than in January, 1918. The Boroughs of Manhattan, Brooklyn, Bronx, Queens and Richmond, and the cities of Binghamton, Buffalo, Rochester, Schenectady, Syracuse and Yonkers reported larger expenditures in January, 1919, than in December, 1918.

Silent Red Cross Workers.

For some time there has been a busy circle of women meeting each week and doing excellent work for the Red Cross. They are banded together under the name of Busy Seven. The workers are Mrs. John Shurter, Mrs. Harry Clearwater, Mrs. Robert Martin, Mrs. William Williams, Mrs. Gustav Teichler, Mrs Ernest Kelly and Mrs. Howard J. Shultis. During the two years they have completed 3 dozen wash cloths, 103 nightgowns, 47 pairs bed socks, 400 hospital bed shirts, 40 Belgium dresses, 20 underskirts for women, 10 boys' undershirts and 20 suits of pajamas, and they are still continuing the good work.

He Avoids No. 1323.

Rather than use automobile number plate 1323, an applicant for an automobile license expressed his willingness to the secretary of state to pay for another set of numbers. The numbers were exchanged, however, for a set more to his liking

Have You Ridden in The Essex?

It Is The New Moderate Priced Fine Car—Price $1395

The Essex must have made a hundred thousand friends since January 16th, the day on which it was first shown in all parts of the country by hundreds of dealers.

It is the new light, moderate priced car that has the endurance, comfort and rich completeness that you expect only in large and costly automobiles.

You remember the first advertisements did not describe the Essex. Every word applicable to it has already been used to describe some other automobile. So it was decided the Essex must speak for itself.

It does this by its appearance and performance, but most of all in the way it retains its newness.

It Surprised All As It Will You

Our visitors were not told what to expect in the Essex. We said, go take a ride in it, then we will talk to you about it. But when they came back they did the talking.

Many of the hundreds of visitors who rode in the Essex have been doing business with us for a long time. They know the kind of cars we sell.

Under those circumstances they were not as skeptical as they might otherwise have been. But even if they had felt uncertain because of the newness of the Essex, all doubt was removed as soon as they had ridden in it.

That is a distinctive characteristic of the Essex. It is remarked by nearly everyone. Pride of ownership does not alone spring from beauty and richness of detail and finish. It is mechanical as well as optical. Something more than the sense of sight must be gratified.

The Essex is beautiful to behold. The very feel of the comfortable cushions, with their high backs, associates the moderate priced Essex with costly cars. The owner need never apologize for either its appearance or performance. Squeaks do not develop, as in other cars of its type, because an unusually heavy frame assures absolute rigidity. Body bolts cannot work loose. The finish will long retain its freshness.

Ride In The Essex Over Rough Roads

We are demonstrating the Essex over the roughest pavements. It reveals a new and distinctive riding quality. You might easily think you are in a long wheelbase car weighing two or more tons. This feature alone will appeal to you with more than ordinary interest.

The Essex motor deserves your special attention. Note how it is arranged to get the maximum power from every drop of gasoline. See how stable and free from destructive vibration it is. It is free from the need of tinkering and frequent attention. The Essex has stability. It has quality as well as lightness, endurance and comfort as well as a low first cost. These things are apparent to those who see and ride in the Essex.

My Dear Mother:

Just a few lines to let you know that I am well and hope this finds you the same.

There is not much news here. I received your most welcome letter day before yesterday and thought I would answer it. I received three letters from Alvie and I have answered them before Christmas, but he has not answered them. I do not know whether he has gone home or not. There is a fellow by the name of Palmer in this company that has a brother in Co. K of the same regiment that Alvie is in and he said that they were waiting for a ship to come home an and I wonder if Alvie is home. I have written to Will, too, and also to Carrie. I have about six letters to answer yet and one is to Juanita which I will answer tomorrow night. If I do not get to it in your letter, you speak about Alvie writing every week and that the Y. M. C. A. furnishing paper, well it does when you are around one. Alvie has been where there has been one all the time, but I have not; I have been in towns where they have been in and when we pulled in they pulled out. Les Isleties was the first town that I have been in where a Y. M. C. A. was since I left LeMans and we were not in Les Isleties over two weeks when it pulled out and then the Salvation Army gave us paper and they stayed there until we left the town.

How is Mr. and Mrs. Dutcher getting along now? I am anxious to see Virginia. I guess I will be back some time in February or March. Will stop and see you on my way to Harpersfield as I think that is where I will go. I get letters from there and they all want me to come back.

Well, as I have run out of news, I will have to close. Remember I am as ever,

Your loving son.

LIVESTOCK PRODUCTION

Increase In State Is Aim Of Representative Committee.

Representing the farming, stock raising, packing, dairy transportation, mercantile and banking interests of the state, William Church Osborn, New York; Jacob C. Dold, Buffalo; James W. Wadsworth, Sr., Geneseo; Lewis P. Furhman, Buffalo; Clarence F. Eckhardt, New York; Hugh C. Troy, president, State Dairymen's Association, Ithaca; F. W. Sessions, Utica; Harry C. Harpending, Dundee; Charles W. Larmon, Albany, and Dorr W. McLaury, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, Albany, were named a committee today by Calvin J. Huson, president of the New York State Breeder's Association, to investigate fully into the possibility of increasing live stock production in New York state. This committee was authorized at the recent meeting of the state breeders in Buffalo, following a declaration by Statistician Larmon that 1,720,000,000 pounds of beef, pork and mutton were annually consumed in New York of which less than one third was produced upon the farms of the state.

In view of the fact that the annual growth of population of the United States is greatly in excess of the increase in meat production and that the demands of foreign countries will undoubtedly continue abnormal for several years, the State Breeder's Association believed it to be of great importance that every effort be made for increasing live stock production on the farms of this state.

"Coca-cola or ginger ale?" is what the governor of North Carolina will say to the governor of South Carolina after July 1.

The war certainly stirred this country up. The State of Illinois is actually going to enforce the study of the English language in its public schools.

Ex-President Taft is evidently of the opinion that the masses of the people are more eager to put an end to wars than to put any particular party into power at Washington.

It was rather inappropriate for Mayor Hylan to send his message lamenting New York's "millions struggling from hand to mouth," while he himself was luxuriating at Palm Beach.

A professor named Barnes contends that the "composite intellect" of this country is that of a 10-year-old child. If the professor is right, he furnishes the explanation of some things otherwise inexplicable.

After Governor Allen of Kansas had discoursed earnestly and long-windedly upon the mistakes made by our army in the Argonne he was of course very much annoyed by the query of a Senator: "What is the purpose of all this? We won the fight, didn't we?"

PROOF OF BEING BORN

The number of French girls who are ready to marry American soldiers continues to grow as the reports come in, being now estimated at 50,000. But an obstacle has appeared in the path of all this international matrimony, and in the quarter where it was least expected. France is willing enough to receive a gift of American blood after profiting by American brawn, idealism and courage. These international marriages are popular in France, but they must be according to rule, and the rule presenting the obstacle is that no man in France can get a marriage license without producing a birth certificate. Now, American soldiers went to France armed with guns, not with birth certificates, and in nine cases out of ten perhaps they could not secure the latter even if they wrote home for them. Among us births are private matters, but in France they are events of public concern, and doubtless this is partly because we have so many of them while in France there are relatively few of them. In America we know certainly that a man actually had a birth when we look him over whether he has the written proof of it or not, but in France a man's birth appears to be open to debate unless the certificate to show for it in his hand. So most of those fifty thousand marriages are held up and many loving hearts are torn. But let the soldier lovers who lack only in a birth certificate cheer up. There are as good fish in the sea as have ever been caught, and the finest of all are to be found on this side of the water.

POLITICIANS AND "TOBAKO."

The present is not the first effort to chase tobacco out of the country. The Connecticut law-givers of early times restricted or attempted to restrict its use to those only whose physicians certified that it was good for their health. A "blue law" of that State, which went into effect in 1673, reads: "Forasmuch as it is observed, that many abuses are crept in and committed, by frequent taking tobako, it is ordered by the authorities of this Court, that no person under the age of 21 years, nor any other, that hath not already accustomed himself to the use thereof, shall take any tobako, until he hath brought a certificate under the hands of some who are approved for knowledge and skill in phisick, that it is useful for him, and also, that he hath received a license from the Court, for same and for the regulation of those, who having by their former taking it, have (in their own apprehensions, made it necessary to them, or upon due advice and perswaded to the use thereof."

State Senator Kine of Indiana does not demand the restriction of a physician's certificate, but seeks by a bill introduced in the legislature of his State to prevent any man guilty of using tobacco in any form from holding public office. The opinion has been expressed that tobacco will remain free because the majority of politicians are smokers, but if the popular outcry should grow strong enough smoking politicians would vote to prohibit tobacco just as politicians fond of a convivial glass voted to prohibit intoxicants, believing in the second case as in the first that they would be able to "stock up" for years in advance and indulge themselves privately. As a rule politicians vote in cases of this sort not according to their own wishes but according to what they believe to be the popular demand.

The Dodge That Failed.

To the close observer it was patent that the office boy had something on his mind, and, after giving the office cat a vicious incentive to leave the premises, he proceeded in a state of great agitation to the door labelled "Manager," resolved to take the enemy by storm.

Bursting into the office, he blurted out:

"Oh, please, sir, may I go to my grandmother's funeral match—er—I mean, base-ball ceremony, sir—er—I mean"—

The boss's brow was black and stern. He looked a fearsome man. The office boy saw his mistake. Then he turned and ran.—Exchange

Lenten Services.

Next Wednesday (Ash Wednesday) we enter upon the solemn season, in which we commemorate the last scenes in the life of the savior of men. Lenten services will be held at the Spring Street German Lutheran Church on Sunday evening in English and on Wednesday evening in German throughout the season. The first Lenten service in English will be held tomorrow evening and the subject of the sermon will be, "A Remarkable Incident in the History of Our Lord's Passion." The English class of catechumens will open the service with a passion song.

POLICEMAN AT GERMAN ELECTION

Private Brooks Says Germans Use Soldiers Good But Are "Too Crooked"—Meets Old Friends From Home And Has Good Y. M. C. A. Service.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Brooks of Ashokan have received the following letters from their son, Private Frederick Brooks, Co. F, 51st Pioneer Infantry, A. E. F.:

PRIVATE FREDERICK BROOKS.

Guls, Germany,
Jan. 22, 1919.

Dear Sister and All.

The German people had their election Sunday, January the 9th. I was one of the M. P. to see that they didn't start any riots or trouble.

The women and men both voted. They have a vote from the age of twenty years up. You should have seen the German women go to vote. Some had aprons on, some with babies in their arms, and the poorer people wore wooden shoes. The well-to-do people wear shoes, the same as the Americans do.

I got your letter written December 27, on Sunday, January 19; that is the first letter I have had from any of you in over two weeks. It seemed good to get a letter once again.

The weather is still quite warm here; the ground has not frozen since I have been here. It is a good deal like it is at home in the spring time.

But we get lots of rain, so it is muddy all the time.

We are busy doing guard duty and drilling. I am well and hope you are all the same.

Tell father not to work too hard. I don't know when I will be home. I hope it will be soon. I think it may be some time in February.

They are giving us all new clothing. We have to have the same amount to come back with as we had when we came over. I think two weeks will do me to visit around when I get home.

I have gotten rid of the cooties, but I don't know how soon I may get them again.

The cake in the Christmas box was fine; wasn't dried at all; it was as if it had just been made. The candy was O K also. Will try and send some little token for a souvenir.

Remember me to all of the folks. I have sent two company pictures home and will send you a picture of myself alone in a few days.

Love and best wishes to you all.

FRED.

Guls, Germany,
Jan. 26, 1919.

Dear Mother and All:

I am well and hope you are all the same.

I got your letter this week Thursday that was written December 16, 1918, with the clipping out of The Freeman in.

I have plenty of writing paper now. There is a Y. M. C. A. in the place we are in now; it is the first one we have had since November 6, and the one we had then was no good; they didn't have much of anything; but this one is pretty good; we can buy chocolate and smokes.

I like it good since the war is over and all the rest of the boys like it. But we are kept busy just the same from before daylight in the morning until after dark.

We drill, do guard duty and stand formations.

Well, as to when we are coming home, I don't know. I hope it will be soon. I don't think I will ever find fault with anything when I once get home.

We had a snow flurry here this morning but it didn't amount to anything. It is getting cold now; the ground has frozen this week for the first time.

I haven't any sweater but I have something better; the supply sergeant gave me a new leather vest; it has cloth on the inside.

I will send my pictures that I had taken at this place; I am sending them in this letter.

I have had a couple letters from Aunt Nora.

Well, mother, save some sausage, buckwheat cakes and headcheese for me; it will taste good.

I will surely appreciate some good cake when I get home; also some good pies. I haven't had any pie since I left Camp Merritt.

There are some boys in this company that I know from home; Ralph Spurling, also Oscar Beesimer from Stone Hollow. I think father knows both of these boys.

It is too bad about Joe Morris. If I am not home before you write, tell me all about the funeral. Was there any men from the board of water supply down from Grand Gorge?

Tell father I talked with some of the Marines that were in the battle at Chateau Thierry, where George Jones was killed. It was an awful battle.

These Marines stayed in the woods near the fort we guarded after they fought the battle.

Well, the German people use us good, but I have no use for them; they are too crooked.

Now mother, I have heard today that the station agent at this place said the cars had been ordered for the 51st Pioneers to move February 6. I hope it is true. I guess I have told you all for this time.

Lots of love to you all.

FRED.

BOOTH IN MARNE JULY CAMPAIGN

Cook With the 30th Infantry Writes of Experiences in War and After the Fighting Was Over—Now in Germany.

Rieden, Germany, Jan. 29, 1919.

Editor Kingston Daily Freeman:

Dear Sir:—Owing to the fact that I have a great number of friends in the city of Kingston and that I can not find the leisure time to write to each one of them at a separate time I thought that I could reach them all by having you publish this small piece as to where I am at the present time.

We started for this country of Germany on the 20th of November, 1918, from one of France's largest cities by the name of Commercy. We had a very hard hike, as they call it in the army. We walked for four long days. Making a distance of eighty miles in all. Then we received the orders to stay in a town by the name of Gross Hettengen, in what was known as the Alsace-Lorraine country, but it had been German country every since they took it away from the French in 1870.

Our stay was only a short one. After which we were ordered to go further into the German country.

We walked then for 14 days, covering the distance of about one hundred and twenty miles over some very beautiful country, but a very rough road.

We finally arrived at our journey's end, which is located in the town of Rieden about six hours' walk from one of Germany's largest cities by the name of Coblenz. And this place is also located about 3 hours' walk from the place where the first Bible was printed from movable type. The Bible was printed by a man by the name of Johann Gutenberg, between the years of 1450 and 1455. It was at Mainz, Germany.

The country over here sure is of the very best of kind. We have not had hardly any snow over here as yet and we find the weather something like we find our spring and fall at home. But I wish to state that I have seen all of the European countries that I care for and feel very willing to come back to Kingston and meet my many friends. But I must say that I feel very thankful to think and to know that I had the strength to come over here and do my bit and to know that I am in such a good division as the Fourth. I will try to tell you of a little of the Fourth Division's experiences while in France. Our division headquarters arrived in France on May 17, 1918 at the seaport of Brest, France. After a little practice we went into activities in what is known as the Marne country. We met our offensive on July 18th and carried it on until the 21st of July. We were fighting with the Sixth French Army and captured a great deal of land and took quite a few prisoners. This was in the vicinity of Nowy and Hautevesnes. We then moved into what was known as the Vesle sector where we met with almost continuous heavy fighting from August 2nd to the 12th. We then went to the St. Mihiel sector, Watsonvill-Treslaugeaux, there we were held in reserve. We were then in Manois at camp. We were held there from September 6th to the 13th. Then we once again met our offensive in the Argonne and Meuse country from September 25th until October 19th. We captured 72 officers, 2,684 privates, 44 pieces of heavy artillery and 31 machine guns. And received three citations from the French government.

And to think back a few months and picture how hard we were battling against them and now we are living with them in their houses and there is not a thing that they will not do for us.

But just now I am living in the very best of hopes of being on my happy way to the United States in a short time to see all of my friends and parents. So with respects to all, I remain

Ponckhockie Church Supper.

The ladies of the Ponckhockie Union Church will serve a variety supper on Tuesday evening, March 4, from 5 to 8 o'clock. They have made abundant provision to satisfy the strongest appetite, and will take good care of the public, which always looks forward with pleasure to the suppers served by these ladies.

DIFFICULT READING

If you experience the slightest difficulty in reading—if your eyes feel strained, "drawn and tired" after nature's warning that something must be done to alleviate and remedy some defect in your vision.

A pair of correctly fitting glasses will not alone bring physical relief but they will tend to restore the vision to its natural state by relieving it of all strains, etc.

GARAGE MEN ARE KEPT HUSTLING

An All the Year Business Instead of Just a Fair Weather Pleasure Proposition is the Automobile Becoming More Each Year.

HENRY STRYKER.

Henry Stryker, of Stryker & Youmans Co., distributors of Chandler, Oakland and Mitchell cars, says:

"The open winter and fine weather has made it possible to run automobiles every day this winter which has been a great convenience to the city and country people alike. Many people out of the city, engaged in ship building, building freight cars and other lines of business find the automobile indispensable, especially in these times of few railroad trains, poor service and high fares.

"The merchants, great and small, have profited much by the fine weather and good conditions of the roads, which enabled the people from the country districts to come in to do their shopping. This was never so in evidence as during the week before the holidays when one could scarcely get through Wall street because of the automobiles parked on both sides of the street. The same conditon is true every Saturday afternoon.

"All this, of course, means much to the garage man, when cars are running. Tires must be had, gasoline and oil must be bought, and many cars are sold. The open winter, together with the ever increasing demand for the closed type of cars means that the garage man must hustle twelve months in the year, instead of 'taking it easy' through the winter as heretofore.

"We are looking forward to the continuation of this kind of weather during March, and with the garage men all doing their part. We can rest assured that the automobile show will be bigger and better than ever."

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, Mar. 1.—At the M. E. Church Sunday morning communion service will be observed, conducted by Rev. N. L. Heroy of Accord. Sunday evening a union service. Rev. W. S. Maines, of the Reformed Church, will preach. The subject, "Public Health," by a request of the government.

At the congregational meeting of the Lutheran Church Tuesday evening it was decided to hear other candidates for pastor. Rev. George J. Ketner, of Central Bridge, N. Y., will occupy the pulpit on Sunday, March 9, morning and evening. He comes highly recommended as an able speaker and the church people are urged to be present.

R. W. Minnie Riseley, D. D. G. M., and R. W. Hugh P. Hobson, A. G. L., of the 11th district, will pay Wawarsing Chapter, O. E. S., an official visit on the evening of Monday, March 3. In addition to this visit the chapter will celebrate Master Masons' night and observe the flag night service, combining the three into a victory meeting. All Masons are invited to be present. The Star Degrees will be conferred and a banquet served at the close of the chapter.

On Thursday afternoon, Feb. 27, the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church held a social in the church parlors. The following ladies entertained: Mrs. Nelson Terwilliger, Miss Prout, Mrs. Charles Delaney, Mrs. Thyson and Mrs. Van Kirk. The ladies devoted the time to some repair work on church cushions and enjoyed refreshments with a pleasant social intercourse.

The active members of the Musical Club held a special meeting at the home of the secretary, Mrs. John Ewing, Friday afternoon. The regular meeting of the club will be held Thursday afternoon, March 6, and the subject will be "Irish Songs." The committee in charge of the program will be Mrs. Maines, Mrs. Smith, Miss Doyle and Miss Hobson. The subject certainly indicates a pleasing program.

Harold Rippert has taken a partnership with Bert H. Cornelius in his restaurant business on Main street, opposite the Mitchell House, and on Sunday they are to serve a special turkey and chicken dinner. The dining room has been undergoing extensive repairs and on Sunday it will be opened with a splendid dinner to all patrons wishing it.

Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Fater announce the engagement of their daughter, Naomi L. to First Lieutenant Francis Albert Federer of Washington, D. C. Miss Fater, one of Ellenville's popular young ladies, has been engaged at government work in Washington the past year and before taking this position was an accomplished school teacher, serving in that capacity as teacher in the schools at Hunter, N. Y., for three years. Her Ellenville friends congratulate the prospective bridegroom upon his choice in selecting Miss Fater, who has many charms of personality and an accomplished young lady in music as well as in business.

Under the direction of D. D. G. M. Ulster Palmer, the Masons of the district, comprising Ulster and Greene counties, held an usually interesting and instructive convention in Ellenville on Monday, February 24th, afternoon and evening. There was a good attendance in the afternoon and the lodge room was filled in the evening, when the work of the Master Mason degree was exemplified. The work of W. B. Seth Cole of Catskill, who occupied the master's chair and Assistant G. Lecturer A. E. Hummel of Prattsville was especially commended. Refreshments were served after the work, following which with Deputy Palmer presiding as toastmaster, the Masons present enjoyed some of the best speaking ever heard in the lodge room. Among those taking part were: R. W. Horace E. Smith, Grand Lecturer Dr H. P. Hobson, the Rev. W. S. Maines, H. Westlake Coons, David MacNair, a visiting brother from New York city, W. B. Newton Fessenden, master of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, Dr. W. N. Thayer, Napanoch, with closing remarks by R. W. Claude H. Heath of Catskill.

Floyd Ackley returned to work at the Marshall Jansen Co. garage, a position he held before entering the U. S. service. He and his family will occupy the Clark house on Market street.

Several applicants for the position of superintendent of the local high school were in town this week to meet the board of education. Stanley Heason of New Albany has been engaged as superintendent and will take charge next week. Mr. Heason has just been released from service and comes well recommended.

Daniel F. Vanderlyn, the past year engaged at the Ronk garage at Wallkill, will open up a business in Ellenville about April 1st. He has leased the store in Carling Block, formerly occupied by the Electric Co., and will install a vulcanizing plant, also have on sale automobile supplies.

Mrs. Albert V. Porter met with a most unfortunate and painful accident on Tuesday evening. She was in the yard in the rear of their home when she tripped over a piece of wire that had been left lying about, and fell, sustaining a bad break in the right arm just below the shoulder. At the same time Mr. Porter's health does not improve as could be desired and he has practically no use of his eyesight at all.

Mrs. Irving T. McNally has sold her residence property at Hurleyville to Messrs. Lubin and Morris, New York manufacturers, who will occupy it for a summer home

Miss Rachel Thornton has gone to spend several weeks in New York city and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Deyo of Hempstead have been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs Miles Deyo, on Warren street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a daughter in their home on Church street. Mrs. Smith before marriage was Miss Ethel Van Gorder daughter of Mr and Mrs. Thomas Van Gorder of Bartlett street.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Holmes have returned from a two weeks' outing at Atlantic City.

Miss Edith Gaskell is visiting her sister, Miss Helen, at Monticello.

George Henniger has returned to Camp Meade, Md., after spending a five days' furlough at his home on South Market street.

Ryan and Wells have purchased the Denniston lot and building on North Main street and will move their monument and headstone business to that place.

The Cluer Wood Products Co has added several men to its force and business is rushing.

The young men of the village have organized a boy club, P. S. S. B. They have rented the Clyne building on Main street near Dr. Neal's office and residence and expect to have a fine club room well equipped at an early date. It promises to be a success and is what Ellenville has long needed.

Burlison has his large ice house filled. The Fleckensteins have one of their ice houses half full and one about filled. The ice has been secured from Ulster Lake and the Nichols pond at Greenfield and all of it is splendid ice.

HAD GLIMPSE INTO FUTURE

Man in Seventeenth Century Saw Wondrous Possibilities in the Development of the World.

One hundred and four years ago, at this season, the war of 1812 was practically over. Peace was signed, at Ghent, on the evening of December 24, 1814; and then things moved fast, according to existing standards. On December 26, one of the American secretaries left Ghent for London, and on January 2, 1815, he left England for New York, where he arrived some time in February, and his news was immediately delivered to the citizens by printed handbills. Other cities, however, had to remain in ignorance during the time it would take a fast rider to urge his galloping horse over the roads between them and New York. The telegraph was not yet invented, although Joseph Glanvil, a seventeenth century preacher with an interest in the possibilities of invention, had told the Royal society that "to confer, at the distance of the Indies, by sympathetic conveyances, may be as usual to future times as to us in literary correspondence." Glanvil, by the way, also told the Royal society that "to those who come after us, it may be as ordinary to buy a pair of wings to fly into the remotest regions, as now a pair of boots to ride a journey."

One Proof.

"Do you believe in heredity?"

"No; a fellow doesn't have to be crusty because his father was a baker."

Home, Sweet Home.

It may be a mansion,
It may be a dump,
It may be a farm,
With an old oaken pump;
It may be a palace,
It may be a flat,
It may tbe the room,
Where you hang up your hat.
It may be a house
With a hole in the floor;
Or a marble hotel
With a coon at the door.
It may be exclusive,
Or simple—or swell;
A wee bit of heaven,
Or one little—well—
Just kindly remember,
Wherever you roam,
That Shakespeare was right, kid,
"There's no place like home."

HIGH SCHOOL BEAT WALDEN HIGH

At Basketball—Other Games Resulted Mostly in Favor of Locals—Girls Beat Fleischmanns.

The Kingston high school gym was crowded last night to witness the local 'Varsity administer a severe drubbing to the quintet from Walden High, for when the final time whistle blew the score stood 47 to 17, with the 17 tacked alongside the local five's name.

Although a most uneven score was made it does not indicate for one minute that the game was all one-sided and uninteresting, for contrary to that Kingston met one of the fastest aggregations that it has clashed with in some time and worked hard for every point gained.

A double header was expected at the gym last night but for some unknown reason the St. Mary's five of Poughkeepsie failed to put in their appearance and consequently forfeited the game to the local Midgets.

Captain Pesky Webster and Bill Smith featured for the locals in point making, each doing his best to outdo the other in scoring with a result that Webster caged 16 points and Smith finished with 18 to his credit.

C. B. Meeker was constantly in the fray and as center had "the jump" on his opponent all the time and consequently the locals used their signals to perfection.

"Whittie" Whittaker cleverly intercepted passes and starred at guard work throughout the game.

And last but not least comes Darby Wilson, who deserves honorable mention for the fine guard game he put up, and it was due to his snappy and accurate passwork that most of the points were made. We might also mention that Darby caged two "beautiful fields" last night that brought the crowd to their feet with cheers.

In the last five minutes Kingston turned her subs loose and they did almost as well as the 'Varsity in trimming the cutlery boys.

The G. A. A. and Senior boys motored to Fleischmanns last night to try their luck against the mountaineers, the girls bringing home the bacon as usual, to the tune of 12 to 5. The Seniors were unable to follow the fine example set by their big sisters and bowed to a severe trimming ending by a score of 49 to 9.

The Misses Hurley, Kingman and Bruyn did the scoring for the locals, making points 3, 4 and 5 respectively. Miss Pawling did the basketry for the villagers, caging 4 points.

Mr. Kurnon refereed.

Yesterday afternoon the Saugerties Midgets defeated the Midgets Seconds in the gym by a score of 25 to 16.

Thursday afternoon the 'Varsity Five swamped the Seniors in a practice game, the teams leaving the floor with a score of 79 to 13 against the Seniors. Prof Lewis refereed and I. Leiner acted as official scorer and timer.

The standing of the 'Varsity for the season is as follows:

Smith	95
Webster	128
Meeker	30
Whittaker	20
Wilson	4
Thompson	10
Barmann	4
McAndrew	3
Becker	2

Plans are still underway for the big Joyce memorial game that will be played in the high school gym on March 21st. This game will be played between the 'Varsity and the four men that played under Joyce when he was captain of the high school team two years ago. Joyce's position will be left vacant and due to the fine names his former teammates have made of late on the basketball courts a fast and close game is expected.

Citizens' League Meets Tuesday.

The annual meeting of the Citizens' League of Ulster county to be held Tuesday, March 4th, at the Dr. Sahler Sanitarium, promises to be a meeting of great interest. The addresses by Mrs. Mamie W. Colvin of New York city and George H. West of Albany, together with more than a half dozen of the best speakers in the county show that in this respect it will reach high water mark. Now that Prohibition has been adopted by the nation help will be needed to assist in the enforcement of the law. The league often receives communications from various parts of the county concerning violations of the excise law, from parties who do not in any way connect themselves with the league, nor assist in its work. It would be wise for such ones to attend this meeting. Dinners will be provided at 75c. for all who will write or phone the secretary, Rev. P. N. Chase, 15 Green street, Kingston.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, March 1.—Trading was smaller in volume and price movemens narrower this morning than they have been at any time during the week. About the only important operations were in American International which reflected persistent buying by banking interests and advanced to 63. The Marine stocks were quiet, the Preferred making a gain of ⅛ to 101¾. United Cigar Stores was forced up 1 point to 130¼, again lifting its high record. The Petroleum issues were again under pressure, Mexican Petroleum falling one point to 173 and Royal Dutch declining 1⅜ to 90. General Motors also was in supply, declining 1 point to 148. The local tractions were in moderate supply. Interboro selling at 5½ and the Preferred at 19½. Some of the railroad stocks were in fair demand, Reading and Southern Pacific making fractional gains.

There was a good deal of irregularity in price trend in the late dealings with the petroleum stocks weak. Mexican Petroleum sold down to 172. Distillers was strong and finally 59. There was a good demand for the rails, Reading closing at 83¾, and Southern Pacific at 102. United States Steel was finally 92¼; Baldwin, 77⅝; Utah, 69½; American International, 60¾; Cigar Stores, 130⅞, and General Motors 150⅜. Kelly-Springfield sold up 8 points to 115, a new high record.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE TO START JUNE 1

Supervisor of Physical Education A. W. Buley Announces Plans for Formation of League—A New Baseball Diamond.

Supervisor of Physical Education A. W. Buley of the public schools, announced this morning that plans were underway to organize a Twilight Baseball League similar to that of last season, on a bigger and better scale than ever. City Marshal Arthur Rice has been engaged as umpire. Mr. Rice served efficiently last year.

The baseball diamond on McVey's Field on Delaware avenue has been graded and will be rolled. The board of public works, under whose auspices the league will be held, is arranging to have at least part of the games played on a new baseball diamond in Forsyth Park. This new diamond will be located in the upper portion of the park. Both will be placed in excellent shape and will be among the best along the Hudson river.

Mr. Buley is planning to have at least eight teams in the league which will open the season on June 1. By opening this early it will mean that more games will be played. Mr. Buley would like to have one team of sailors who have been across the water, while another team could be made up of returned soldiers who have seen service in this country. He also plans to have any individual teams who care to enter do so and expects that several organizations will be represented by teams.

Further plans will be announced later.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, March 1.—Miss Edith Boyce is ill of flu at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boyce, on Bowen street.

The consistory of the Reformed Church will meet this evening in the Sunday school room. All members are requested to be present, also those who wish to unite with the church.

At the request of Charles W. Berry, the adjutant general, through William A. Saxton, chief of the bureau of war records, Albany, N. Y., the town board of the town of Esopus has purchased a record book which complies with Circular No. 174 of the war department, for the registration of all discharged soldiers and sailors upon their return to their home town. The book is in the hands of Charles W. Card, town clerk, for this purpose. A few of the returned soldiers and sailors have already registered. Each town has been requested to make the record for historical purposes.

Notice, notice, songs, songs, songs. Are you going? Where? Well, to hear those colored jubilee singers at the K. of P. Hall Wednesday evening, March 5, under the auspices of the officials of the Methodist Church, Rev. A. L. Hughes, manager and director. Such numbers as "What Kind of Shoes Are You Going to Wear?" "Oh, Then My Little Soul's Going to Shine." Don't fail to hear the mixed quartet sing "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Steal Away," "Rise and Shine." Doors open at 7:30 p. m. Performance begins at 8. Good order will be maintained. Admission, adults, 25 cents; children under 10 years, 15 cents.

The following fire wardens have been appointed by Supervisor Holt N. Winfield for the ensuing year: Sylvanus Van Aken, Merritt Soper, Elmer Schoonmaker, Charles L. York, William H. Johns and Vincent Quinn to act in and for the town of Esopus.

Owners and harborers of dogs kept in the town of Esopus should obtain licenses for the year 1919 from Charles W. Card, town clerk. About twenty-five have taken out licenses up to now. Although the law allows thirty days grace from the 1st of March, licenses should be obtained during the first part of March to avoid the rush and delay caused by rushes. The town clerk is compelled to report to the several justices of the peace the names of all owners or harborers of dogs who have failed to obtain licenses within five days after the 1st of April. The justices of the peace who receive this report are compelled to issue an order on the dog catcher to obtain the dog and impound the dog for five days. If the owner or harborer of the dog wishes to obtain his dog, he can do so upon obtaining a license for him, which will cost him two dollars extra. This must be done within five days after seizure of dogs.

Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. Eugene A. Bookhout, pastor.—Sunday school, 9:30. George W. Shultis, superintendent. Morning worship, 10:30. Epworth League, 6:30. Topic, "High Hearts for Great Days." Matt. 10:37-39. Leaders, Mrs. Zimmerman, Mrs. Bowers. Evening worship, 7:30.

Reformed Church, Rev. Leonard Appledoorn, pastor.—Sunday school, 9:45. Hezekiah Hotaling, superintendent. Morning worship, 10:30. Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. All members are cordially invited to be present. Christian Endeavor, 6:45. Evening worship, 7:30. Illustrated lecture on Reformed Church Missions of Japan, at which time 65 highly colored slides will be shown.

Church of the Presentation, Rev. M. Gearin, rector.—Mass, 7:30, 10:30. Sunday school 2:30.

The service Sunday morning at the Methodist Church at Port Ewen will be a communion service and a chance will be given to people to join the church at that time. This service will also be a roll call service and each member is requested to be present and respond to his name.

Harry Flemming of Kingston will be the speaker at the Methodist Church on Sunday evening and the people of Port Ewen are to be congratulated that Mr. Flemming has been secured for that evening, as he has the ability to interest and help all and a message to deliver that all should hear.

Miss Bertha Marx of Andes, N. Y., is visiting at the Methodist parsonage.

Rev. and Mrs. K. M. Reynolds of East Durham, N. Y., are visiting Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Bookhout.

HE GOT BABY'S PICTURE

Soldier Killed Soon After He Received the Photograph.

Although he had never seen his baby, born after his departure for France, Lieut. Ralph S. Bush of Junction City, Kan., received a picture of the little one just before he was killed in action, according to a letter to Mrs. Bush from a brother officer, Lieut. James C. Bodin.

"Ralph had just received the photos of the baby and he showed them to all of us," writes Lieut. Bodin. "At noon (on August 9, on a long march toward Fismes) we received orders to move over across the railroad and river and attack the woods that run parallel with another railroad north of it, but west of Fismes. When all were across the Germans threw an artillery barrage on us and around us. We kept moving to make less casualties. We had a few, and Lieutenant Bush was among them. He was hit with a piece of shrapnel and killed instantly. He was ahead of his men, leading them on and through."

Gun Barrels.

A rather interesting side light on the question of gun barrel life is a determination of the actual length of time to which a good shotgun barrel is subjected to the force and burning effect of the powder charge during its lifetime. If 100,000 shots are fired from a shotgun the inside of the barrel is actually exposed to the flame of the powder charge for about four minutes.

LEATHER IN FAVOR

Soft Suede Is Brought Out for Spring Jackets.

Pliable Material May Be Dyed in Seasonable Colors and Will Admit of Alluring Combinations.

The unheralded advent of leather coats in the autumn fashions gave the public a jolt and a surprise. It is whispered, writes a correspondent, that even the designers were not quite aware of the strength that the fashion would assume. Waistcoats of leather, jackets of leather and fur combined, were taken up by smart women in war work and remained as a street costume for peace activities.

The idea brought about a train of other ideas. Soft suede and pliable leather have been brought out for spring jackets. The suede is dyed in the spring colors, and one of new leaf-green which goes with a white crepe de chine skirt, is quite alluring. Such a combination is obviously intended for Southern usage, but the soft, black leather coats with bright linings are intended for the streets of big cities. They carry skirts of cheviot, serge and heavy silk jersey. The latter is again considered most desirable by well-dressed women.

VOGUE FOR DECORATIVE WORK

Combination of Braid and Embroidery Where All-Braid Embellishment Is Not Desirable.

When there is a considerable surface to be decorated, it is rather tedious and tiresome to embroider the whole thing. And so the vogue for combining both braid and embroidery is a fortunate one where the all-braid decoration is not desirable.

The braid part of the combination usually confines itself to soutache, and the embroidery is interspersed in long-stitch dabs. According to this method, the braiding need not take the form of intricate scroll work. As a matter of fact, the work is very much more effective when the design is simple and bold, for the intervening embroidery can then be quite large and so much more effective.

Large spirals "spoked" with long, straight stitches in silk or wool make very fetching decoration with silk soutache of a contrasting color. Then the zigzag treatment of soutache may be given more decorative value by introducing large dots between the turns, worked solid.

FLOWER HOLDERS FOR TABLE

Ivory-Colored Porcelain Makes Up Attractive Set for a Pleasing Centerpiece.

Several years ago, when sets of porcelain flower holders, which, linked together to form a great centerpiece, came in, they caused almost a dinner sensation. They seemed too much of a vogue to stay, but they are here still.

One such set that recently attracted attention is made of ivory-colored porcelain. There are several narrow, troughlike flower holders that, pushed together, form an irregular oblong in the center of the table. Small, short-stemmed flowers are arranged in masses in these dishes.

Then there are eight tall candlesticks to match, and they are grouped around the flower dishes. A mirror fits nicely into the space defined by the flower dishes, and of course reflects the flowers above and around it.

NOT ABOVE CARRYING BUNDLE

Spirit Shown by New York Man May Explain Why He Has Become a Millionaire.

The following story, which suggests that some millionaires are no more "stuck up" than the rest of us, is printed in Forbes Magazine: A Broadway (New York city) street car conductor was about to forbid a man carrying a huge roll of carpet to enter his car—the bundle was so huge that the conductor feared it would block the aisle. The bearer of the burden, however, smiled at him so amiably and deposited his long parcel promptly at the far corner of the platform that the conductor hadn't the heart to remonstrate. This was at Thirty-third street, opposite a department store. At Forty-second street the passenger shouldered his bundle and walked off. He carried it to one of New York's newest skyscrapers and immediately proceeded to lay it upon the floor of one of the reception rooms there.

He was the owner of the skyscraper! He was Irving T. Bush, millionaire creator of the famous Bush terminal, a veritable city within the city of Brooklyn, owner of a large shipyard and of other projects.

To friends who chaffed him, Mr. Bush explained that the rug caught his fancy while in the store, and he particularly wished to have it laid down before a reception that was to be held at the Buyers' club (in the Bush building) that day. But as the store could not make immediate delivery, why, the only and the natural thing for him to do was to shoulder it himself. The spectacle of a millionaire lugging along such a burden in a street car and in the street did not strike this particular millionaire as in any way funny.

STATE CHARITIES AID OFFICERS

Elected at Friday's Annual Meeting To Increase County Agent's Salary And Committee on Budget Appointed.

The annual meeting of the Ulster County Branch of the State Charities Aid Association was held on Friday evening in the office of the association in the county building at the corner of Crown and John streets. The following officers were elected: President, Rear Admiral Francis J. Higginson; first vice-president, Theodore Brink of Katrine; second vice-president, Wesley Coons of Ellenville; treasurer, Frederick D. W. Darrow. The secretary will be appointed by the chair.

Herbert Carl was appointed auditor of the society's accounts.

A special committee to review the finances of the organization, its resources and obligations and to make recommendations for the coming year's budget, was appointed as follows: F. J. R. Clarke, John B. Alliger and Charles R. O'Connor. Provision was made for the forming of case committees the members of which may be consulted by the county agent on dependent and defective children, regarding cases in their particular localities. Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Sidney Hudson was appointed chairman of the Kingston committee; Father Dougherty of Ellenville, the chairman of the committee for that section, and Mrs J. E. Freston of Milton was made chairman of the committee for Southern Ulster

It was voted to increase the salary of the county agent $300 a year, said increase to date from January first.

Miss Kasson, the county agent, gave the following statistical report, which being interpreted in terms of human beings, "folks," means a great work done in this county during the past year. The report was as follows:

November, 1917—November, 1918.

	Families	Children
Recommended for acceptance as public charges	11	56
As not in need	4	13
Need met without acceptance of children	8	31
Families advised and directed	27	76
Sent to state institutions directly from home	6	5

Visits and interviews, 698.
Addresses, 6.
Cases reported, 1916-1917, 68.
Cases reported, 1917-1918, 94, showing an increase of 26.

3 investigations of war risk insurance for home service, co-operating as to city cases because of a lack of a bureau of charities in the city

In addition to a more detailed report of the year's work, which will prove so interesting and important to the readers of The Freeman as to warrant its full publication in a subsequent issue of The Freeman, Miss Kasson told those present of specific cases of improper guardianship corrected; of a child physically defective, treated and practically cured; of a case of destitution; and of another of desertion, both of the last two being remedied through the agency.

Following Miss Kasson's report, Miss H. Ida Curry, of the State Charities Aid Association, with office in New York, who was present, informally addressed the meeting on the importance of the work which was being done by the local agent, and noted its value to the state as well as to the county.

Byrd Visitors Restricted.

Two well dressed colored men carrying canes called at the court house last evening and requested to be admitted to the jail to see Montague Byrd and James Bailey, being held in connection with the killing of Policeman James Lawrence. They said they were friends of the prisoners whom they knew in New York. They were not admitted, being told to get a permit from District Attorney Traver, and N. Frank O'Reilly, counsel for Byrd.

Game Wardens Secure Conviction.

Edward J. Martin of Big Moose Lake, Resselaer county, paid a $100 fine for shooting one doe deer and selling same. The evidence was gathered by Game Protectors Lewis H. Weed of Walker Valley, Ulster county, and Fred DeWitt of Kingston. The officers were detailed to do plain clothes work for ten days in the Adirondack Mountains.

In City Court.

In city court this morning in the proceedings brought by Thomas J. M'ELROY KILLED AT HIGHLAND

Hit By a West Shore Train Thursday Night—Body Found Badly Mangled Friday Morning Near Ferry Station Crossing.

The mutilated body of Edward McElroy, 45 years old, was found on the West Shore Railroad tracks, near the ferry station crossing at Highland, early Friday morning. He had been hit by a train during the night, but no one seems to have witnessed the accident. His body was found between the station and the signal tower at the north crossing.

McElroy for about five years had been a familiar figure around New Paltz and Clintondale. For a time he was employed by Daniel A. Hasbrouck at New Paltz, but lately had been working with the construction gang on the Wallkill Valley Railroad at New Paltz. An investigation is being made to ascertain if McElroy has any relatives living.

TONY DENIER'S ESTATE.

Hardly Sufficient to Pay Debts and Bequests.

In surrogate's court today the matter of the judicial settlement of John Bairstow of Chicago, administrator of the estate of Tony Denier, late of the city of Kingston, was heard by Surrogate Gill. Mr. Denier was the famous Humpty Dumpty who died at the city home. He married Mrs. Louise A. Sully of Woodstock, and they separated because of non-compatability of temper and he came to Kingston, was cared for by friends, and later at the city home, the Actors' Fund of America contributing to his support. He brought an action in supreme court to recover for several thousand dollars alleged to have been loaned his wife, and got a judgment for about $2,500 and died shortly afterward. He left a will in which he stipulated his debts must be paid. At the accounting Mrs. Louise A. Sully Denier put in a claim for $2,500 for her support during the time Mr. Denier was not living with her This was disallowed by Surrogate Gill and the accounts passed. It is said there is hardly sufficient of the estate to pay the debts and bequests. William H. Grogan is attorney for the administrator; John T. Loughran for Mrs. Louise A. Denier.

FIRE AT HIGHLAND

Destroyed Dean Hotel With Loss of $10,000—Old Landmark.

Early Friday morning fire of unknown origin destroyed, with most of the contents, the Dean Hotel by the riverside at Highland, and seriously threatened the West Shore station and the Highland ferry shed.

No one was in the hotel at the time the fire started. The flames were discovered by M. A. Evans, operator at the Highland station, shortly after midnight.

The loss is estimated at about $10,000, partly covered by insurance. The Dean Hotel is one of the landmarks of Highland, having been built by Mr. Dean's father, William Dean, when the West Shore road was put through. It had long been the mecca of visitohs to the river and at the time of the intercollegiate regattas Recalls Wasted Time.

"I happened to be late at a meeting the other day and somebody asked who Ann Brown was and I didn't say a word and I happened to think just then that somebody is always late to everything and that somebody is always early to everything. If I give a formal dinner party somebody always comes early when I'm in the dining room giving my final orders to the butler, and then again after everything is all ready I have to wait 15 minutes for a tardy guest and get real fussy but must not show it. I'll bet," says Ann, "that I've wasted thousands of hours of my young life being on time for engagements of all kinds."—Exchange.

First United States Currency.

Immediately after the battle of Bunker Hill $2,000,000 in American currency was issued, and by 1779 the amount had grown to $241,000,000, and the various states had issued nearly as much. In 1792 the mint at Philadelphia was established. Thus the use of American money gradually supplanted the foreign.

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

Mrs. Harry Klothe, who has been confined to her home on O'Neil street with the influenza, is improving.

NOTHING IS WORTHLESS

It Is Said That Even Rotten Eggs Attract Wild Animals.

"Thar ain't nothin' in the world but is good for somethin'," is one of the favorite sayings of Jim Buckley of Bear Lake, Alberta.

Buckley is a thrifty soul. He farms in summer and traps in winter and between wheat and furs he is growing rich. One morning while his wife was cooking breakfast she broke a rotten egg into a skillet and was starting toward the door to throw it away when Buckley stopped her.

"Woman, don't throw that egg away," said Buckley.

"But it's rotten," protested his wife.

"Makes no difference," declared the philosopher. "Thar ain't nothin' in the world but—"

"James Buckley," exclaimed his wife, "I've heard that a thousand times."

The wolf never sniffs at the doors of the prosperous farmers of the Peace river country. But foxes are different animals and—here is something you don't know—rotten eggs are rated as an epicurean tidbit in vulpine menus.

WITH MACHINE GUNS OF 78TH DIVISION

DuBois Gives Concise Story of the Movements of the Camp Dix Division From Time It Sailed Until End of the Fighting.

Mrs. George C. DuBois of 199 Wall street, this city, has received the following letter from her son, Herman J. DuBois, of Co. H, 309th Machine Gun Battalion, A. E. F., who tells interestingly his experiences in the big war. He started for overseas May 26, 1918, from Camp Dix. He is a brother of William DuBois, who made several trips over the ocean as a member of the navy on the big transport Leviathan. Private DuBois describes much of his travels and experiences in France.

Magny La Ville, Cote'dor, France, Jan. 23, 1919.

Dear Mother and All:

Well, tonight the mail man was good to me and left me one letter that was from brother and, gee, but it sounded good to hear him say that he had been released and was free once again. It surely must seem like a world of paradise to him now; guess we both will realize what a good home we had much more now than ever before and have ofttimes thought how you often told me I wouldn't be so particular what I ate after I once had to take up with what I got, and there has been lots of times when I would have pretty nearly given my life for a good meal, for an instance of this matter note of our cabbage hunt at Cheveirs. And other times have eaten canned Billy for four or five days with only hard tack (meaning Spratt's Puppy Biscuits) for bread and have traveled as high as four days and four nights in a box car the size of one of our trolley cars with eight horses beside four drivers and the most particular part of the journey was to keep the animals from stepping on our head, our feet and arms were mere trifles. Then to get off of the train and hike for ten or twelve hours and then try to sleep in the rain, and we didn't only try but did, because we were completely exhausted. Of course, that is one of the main things that won the war. Well, mother, will try and give you people a brief account of my travels since I left the dearest country in the world.

We left Camp Dix at 2 a. m. on the morning of May 26 and went on the train to Jersey City. There we boarded a ferry and were taken to Brooklyn Navy Yard and put aboard a fine old relic of a boat which had been used previously for carrying bananas and was manned by a British crew, who at once proceeded to show us our hook to hang ourselves up to when we wanted to go sleep. Well, on account of us being up the night before why we were all pretty tired and sleepy and grabbed off our hook or nook or corner whichever it happened be, and proceeded to forget there ever was a war on, and when we awoke the next morning we were steaming out of the bay and bidding our final farewell to the Statue of Liberty and the land we loved. For the first three days out we had pretty good going and had nothing but boat and fire drills. Then we were met by what some of the English sea dogs termed a bloody blooming gale, and the majority of the fellows got to feeling that the fish weren't getting their regular army issue of rations and kinda shared up with them, so as one lad explained it, if Jerry did wallop our old tub why the fish would have a kindly feeling toward us and give us room enough to swim ashore anyway. But as God would have it, Jerry missed us, so here we are, but it came plenty close enough, because one of the many subs that Jerry had took a crack at us on the 2nd of June. But he missed us by 30 feet they estimated and then our gunner opened up and that was all we saw of Jerry or any of his gang. Well, on the evening of June 8 we docked at Liverpool and at that time an Englishman told me that the Leviathan laid in Gladstone dock about one mile from where we landed, and I was that close to Bill and not able to see him.

On the morning of the 9th we disembarked and marched to the railroad station and boarded some pretty fair English cars and at 4 o'clock that afternoon pulled out and traveled straight through England, stopping at Derby at 9 p. m. for hot coffee and sandwiches that the Red Cross gave out and then again started on our journey and finally at 4 a. m., June 10, got to the end of the road, so had to get off, and the name of that place was Dover. We stayed in an old palace at Dover until June 12, and then boarded the boat and crossed the English channel landing at Calais, France at 4 p. m., June 12th. There we entered what they termed a rest camp and can you just imagine a rest when you lay yourself down and just get in a doze and awake with a startle feeling klaxons are screeching, whistles are screaming and all you can hear is the Hun is over again, and then you think that a clap of lightning has struck a building about a block away, and then you hear several more explosions of the same nature, and then, as one night I saw it, the searchlights all intersected and you can plainly see a moving object in there. Then come a barrage of artillery and machine gun fire. But this time the Hun is safe away and all at once you can hear the throb of his engine again and now you can hear an allied plane and then a machine gun speaks its little piece and that Jerry has made his forward trip from Germany and so I am going to resume your rest in this supposed rest camp, and maybe then probably and will have the same sensation and over in a few more hours. After the rest that we are given about a six mile hike one way, and have one of our best friends given to us and then we go back once more to the rest camp with our new fixture to our equipment, the gas mask.

We stayed around Calais for three days more and in that time I saw quite a bit of the city and on June 16 we left on the train and rode for about eight hours and landed at a place called Pehle and hiked about seven miles from there to a town named De Waast, and there we received our training from the English and were given our horses. There I was made a member of the Transport and have been the same right through excepting a couple of days. There while in Le Waast our captain rejoined us. If you remember he left the States about one month ahead of us. Well, I spent the Fourth of July in Le Waast, hauling water for the four companies of our battalion, and was there until July 21, when we went once again to Debis and boarded the train, my first trip in a car with horses and I shall never forget it. Well, we were on the road for one day and one night this time and landed at a place called Rollecourt. There we started and drove through St. Paul to Herlincourt. In that town we anchored for one month. And about one week after we were there we received our first overseas pay, and you can tell the world that the boys all had a good time for a few days at least. They drank plenty of the celebrated champagne and all of the native wine they could get. Well, after our training was finished on the 22nd of August we left Herlincourt and proceeded through Prevent to Wan Quetien. There was our first view of the battle front. This last named town is about three kilometers from Arras and where the line ran at that time. After being there for a (this last named trip took us two days) day or so Old Jerry got wise we were in there and began to boom the town good and plenty, and, of coutse, we were at once like a dog without a home and had to look for another, so we left Wan Quetein on August 26 for a railroad station about 30 kilometers away known as Savoy Burlette, and there was again roomed with my cheaux, as the French for horses goes, and this time was the trip I spoke of when I said all we had was canned Billy and hard tack, and at the end of four days and nights, of which we passed through Chateau-Thierry and Chalous-Sur-Marne, Paris and some other notable French cities. We landed at a place known as Jussey. There we unloaded at 3 o'clock on the morning of August 30, and proceeded about two miles from the town, and there stopped, had a bite to eat, only a bite too, and had about four hours sleep, and again at 3 p. m. the same day started again and that night landed in Fresne. There we camped for about one week and again on September 6 left Fresne and landed at Vivcourt on the same night and left there on the 7th of September and we drove our animals on the highway for four days and four nights and without a word of lie, believe it was the hardest four days and nights that I ever put in. In our course of travels we passed through the city of Toul, at that time where the old line ran. We at last landed in the woods that were known as the concentration woods of that front and on the night of the 12th of September made our initial appearance in the line. We were in the St. Mihiel salient until October 3, and just had to spend a fine birthday on the road toward the Argonne Forest. We arrived in the Argonnes on October 5 and spent a couple of days in the reserve line for a rest up period, and then on the 8th of October entered the lines then located just back of Cheviers and the company entered in at Bellejose Farm, and from that time on the boys surely saw some mighty hard days up until the armistice was signed. It was on the 28th of October that myself and several of the other fellows with a team and wagon started to take up a meal to the boys. Well, we got there all O. K., and on the way back discovered a patch of cabbage that the Huns had planted, expecting to have some good kraut. But as they termed it, those Got Damned Americans chased them out. They had been in this country for nearly three years and, of course, had themselves fixed up pretty comfy and hated to leave. But this was the cabbage hunt I spoke of. We gathered up a few old baskets lying around and gathered up all the cabbage we could carry, and just when we were leaving with our precious cargo the Hun sure enough caught sight of us and began laying over a fine barrage, but we were all lucky and beat him by lying low until he had let up a bit, and then beat it. Of course, we had some mighty good cabbage dinners after that. Then on the 1st of November started the barrage that helped a great lot to end the war, and on November 2 the doughboys went over the top and the machine gunners were right there with them. So on November 2 we had to start and try to catch our company, and we did when reached Buzaney, and then we went on to Anthe and thence to Brieuil, the furtherest point our fit made, although our company was a few kilos further on and on the 8th of November started on our way out of the lines and on the 10th of November landed at a city called Florent and stayed there for two nights and days, and on the 11th started out again and about half way between there and St. Menehould we first heard the news that spelled life once again for us, life where we can live without having an officer tell us where we can eat, drink and sleep and also when. But to get back again to the story, we proceeded through St. Menehould and thus on to Epense, where we rested for three or four days and then loaded on the train at Givry-En-Argonne and traveled one day and night and arrived at the city of Semur and there on to this place known as Magony La Ville and thus have been here since November 17, and have fared pretty well. We are billeted in some old stone house about like the old Senate Houses and have a little store in our billet and our bed. One fellow stated in a letter home that he was sleeping both under and over a feather bed. But the nearest we got to that was nature's own stone feathers and they surely do get damned hard any time you lay down on them, but we sure will stick it out if they will only start us home soon. Well, have did my bit in this letter and so will close for this time, hoping you are all well and getting along good. remain, your affectionate son. HERM.

P. S.—You can telephone Mrs. Dechl that received a letter from her son, Lester, that he was fine and expected to be released from the hospital any day, so she need have no worry. Don't forget this.

The Stroller Hears a Discussion As To Table Manners—Knife vs. Fork—Making It Safe For Democracy.

"Who cut your lip?. Been eating with your knife?" queried the busy barber pleasantly, as he prepared to give the customer a close shave.

"How did you guess it?" retorted the customer indignantly; "you must think I haven't any table manners at all."

"Don't get sore," chuckled the barber, applying some more lather, "you are no better to be caught using your knife than one of our prominent residents at the Ulster County Society dinner in New York the other night."

"What's that?" asked the customer, somewhat incredulously.

"Fact," nodded the barber. "One of the men at the banquet was just in getting a shave and he was telling me about it."

"Huh," mumbled the customer.

"Maybe," continued this barber, "this resident thought it was about time for the world to arouse itself and shake off the shackles of convention. Too long has the world grown accustomed to the thought that it was necessary to eat with a fork."

"In fact, custom has grown to such an extent that a 'rube' has been classed as the man who eats with his knife and carries a wisp of straw in one corner of his mouth. Now that Wilson has made the world safe for Democracy maybe this same resident has thought it was time for some one to make it safe for table manners, and allow a man to feed himself with whatever instrument tickled his inclination."

"I don't call it making the world safe allowing a man to jam his food down his gullet with his knife," interrupted the customer, spitting out some lather the barber had dropped in one corner of his mouth.

"How is that?" grinned the barber.

"I know of a case," said the customer earnestly, "where the only man eating with his knife at a banquet was shocked when a bolt of lightning knocked the knife out of his hand."

"He may have been using somebody else's knife," suggested the barber.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, March 1.—At the morning service at 10:45 in the Methodist Church on Sunday morning, March 2, the pastor, the Rev. J. J. Lyons, will take for his subject, "The Key to the Door." In the evening at 7:30 his theme will be, "The Big Fight." Sunday school at 9:45. Epworth League devotional meeting at 6:45.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carboni has once more been taken to a New York city hospital to receive treatment for paralysis. She was unable to speak and one side paralyzed when taken there. This is the third time she has been stricken and as she entirely recovered from the previous attacks the family are hopeful that the result will be the same this time.

George Hummel was called to Port Ewen yesterday morning by the very serious illness of his father, Jacob Hummel.

Quentin Hummel, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hummel, is unable to attend school this week on account of a severe cold.

Mrs. Emma Dickerson went to Kingston on Thursday to visit her niece, Mrs. Raymond Parsells, of Schenectady, who with her infant son, Raymond Merrill, is spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill DuBois.

Sunny Dispositions.

I think it was Carlyle who said: "The man who can laugh way down deep in his diaphragm can never commit murder." And he should have added that the man with a whistling disposition can never be mean, abuse a child, betray a friend or refuse to pay his rent.—Fern Howard, in Milwaukee Sentinel.
